CPM's courageous clients and CPM partners Justin T. Berger & Robert Hutchinson will be featured on CBS's primetime series, "Whistleblower" on June 21st at 8:00 p.m. The episode will profile CPM's case against hospitals and doctors in the Tri-City area who were allegedly using counterfeit screws to insert into patients. Here is a sneak peak of the episode.

"Whistleblower" takes a thrilling look into the real-life David vs. Goliath stories of heroic people who put everything on the line in order to expose illegal and often dangerous wrongdoing when major corporations rip off U.S. taxpayers. Hosted by attorney Alex Ferrer, a former judge and police officer, each hour introduces cases in which ordinary people step up to do the extraordinary by risking their careers, their families and even their lives to ensure others are not harmed or killed by unchecked, unethical corporate greed.

Emmy Award winner Susan Zirinsky (48 HOURS, 48 HOURS: NCIS) serves as senior executive producer. Alex Ferrer and Ted Eccles serve as executive producers. "Whistleblower" is produced by CBS News for CBS Television Studios.
