

CPM Sues Alleging Price-Fixing in Poultry Products

CPM filed a complaint in Illinois on behalf of consumer purchasers of Broilers (chickens) alleging that defendants conspired and combined to fix the prices of poultry in the United States. Broilers constitute approximately 98% of all chicken meat sold in the United States. Defendants are the leading suppliers of Broilers in an industry with over $30 billion in annual wholesale revenue. Steve Williams, Adam Zapala and team are handling the case.

Attorneys

Adam J. Zapala

Practice Areas

Antitrust & Global Competition